

Call My Bluff (c2) True or False?

Teetotaler

Have I ever lied to you? Here you are then! A teetotaler is someone who never drinks alcohol. OK? Got it?

Warehouse

Very poor people used to live in a warehouse in England in the 18th century. Are you listening? Shall I say it again?

Widower

Don't listen to the others. A widower is a man whose wife is dead. This is a man, not a woman. I hope you get this right.

Anemone

This is very simple, so listen well! If you have a stomachache, this is a very good herbal medicine. Why don't you believe me? Trust me!

Bungle

As you know, this means to laugh loudly. Old ladies often bungle. E.g. My grandmother is always bungling.
